

Introducing your Being Human festival event

Please read out this short introduction to the festival at your event:

“This event is part of the national Being Human festival of the humanities, which is taking place across the UK between 12-22 November.

Being Human is the only national festival of the humanities, run by the School of Advanced Study, University of London in partnership with the Arts and Humanities Research Council and the British Academy.

Events are mostly online this year, and you can see the full programme online at www.beinghumanfestival.org. The festival can be found @BeingHumanFest on Twitter, Instagram and Facebook and the hashtag is #BeingHuman2020.

Please help us to keep as many festival events as possible free and to improve the festival in years to come by taking a moment to fill in a feedback survey. Your feedback is incredibly valuable.

Finally, if you'd like to help support the festival by making a donation, please go to www.beinghumanfestival.org/support-us.

Thank you!”
